Author's Note:

In the closing months of 2020, Joseph - eloquent spokesperson for a vast soul group of spirits concerned for the future of humanity and that each of us should examine, acknowledge and rediscover our spiritual origins in order for our experience on Earth to unfold as it was meant to - once again wished to make higher vibrational concepts and knowledge available to every soul on Earth, this time to be presented as his 'three presents for Christmas'.

As usual, and as he had on numerous occasions over many years, Joseph first placed me in a trance state in order for the communication to take place, the session that followed being filmed and subsequently posted on YouTube and our websites.

This footage has recently been transcribed (with grateful thanks to Jules Gadiot for his diligent work in doing this) allowing for the first time its contents to be made available in written form to readers of the Joseph Communications and those spiritual seekers preferring a copy of the information that can be held on their personal devices and accessed whenever they wish to revisit it.

As Joseph's highly spiritual words are entirely relevant and powerful not only during the festive period but at any time of year - any year - I am delighted to be able to make the following communication available to all spiritual seekers in the form of this free e-Book.

I'll hand you over to Joseph now. As with each of his communications, his words are worthy of careful consideration. Please also consider taking them to heart as it is their intention to expand, enhance and enrich your experience on this planet.

The First Gift

Joseph:

...When an elderly relative visits, they usually bring presents. Well, I AM your relative; I am related to each of you reading this, each of you participating in this – I am your relative. I can come through, as Michael usually sees me, as a man in his mid-fifties, but I am not really elderly. I am without age. I am a spirit, as each of you is without age as a spirit.

I have been a young man ...an old man ...a young woman ...an old woman, and I have lived many times. But for the sake of appearance, let us say that I am the standard 'Joseph' that you are used to in the Joseph Communications books.

And I come this morning with presents for you all.

The first present is a view of where I live – where the soul group lives. And I wish to bring to you, I wish you to imagine – to participate with me – to imagine an alpine meadow surrounded by blue hills and bluer skies. Perfect clouds are in those skies. And in the meadow people gather. There are houses in the middle distance and houses at a distance but the middle of the meadow is unspoiled. And people gather [just] as people gather on Earth. And each of these spirits wears a beautiful coloured robe. Unlike the Earth there is no contradiction between these people... no aggression between them... no vying for who is top dog. There is a meeting... and that meeting is one of perfect harmony. And, as the spirits gather together, the Light that each of them gives off mingles and expands until they are within a dome of coloured Light.

I would like you to feel - try to imagine - how wonderful each of these spirits feels ...because they are no longer in a physical body; they are no longer racked by pain. They no longer have doubts ...no longer have problems with the mind ...no longer suffer from depression or fatigue. They have all the energy they need. And, in addition to this, they know that each of them is an eternal spirit. There is no fear of death because the barrier of death has been crossed.

I bring you this image because it is one you can incorporate into your life NOW. The reason our soul group exists on an alpine plateau is because, as we progress through the cleansing spheres that lead out eventually into Infinity, our reference point is the original purpose of the Earth. So... we surround ourselves in the successive spheres with a version of the Earth as it SHOULD be, as it was MEANT to be – the paradise it ONCE WAS. And so our alpine is perfect. The air is sweet. The Light wonderful. The grass a beautiful green. There are wonderful flowers. Animals wander about without harm...

All this is a view of the Earth that we had – and YOU had – when we created it as the angelic beings we are at core...

...You'll say, 'Well, Joseph, why have you brought us such a present, because this present makes us feel jealous? This present makes us feel that you are in an elevated position and we at present are suffering greatly on the Earth plane.' I bring you this as a present because it is something – a vision – that you can unwrap every day and share with everyone on Earth. Not the vision of the soul group, not the vision of the alpine surroundings that we have created but the vision of the perfect Earth, that the Earth really is beneath the encrusted vibrations that you have layered it with. I bring you this image of the soul group's habitat because it can be YOUR habitat IF you work at it...

...On our level we gather together to create. If we want a house, we create it by joining together in a rough circle and looking collectively at how we want that house to be – agreeing between ourselves that that house is what we want. And then we bring that house out of our thoughts via our hearts. And we create it and place it in our landscape exactly where we want it to be.

And it is there for as long as we want it to be there until such time as we feel that something else should replace it – or it needs to be moved or added to or subtracted from – and, again, we gather in a circle and we work with our hearts to accomplish the changes that we desire in a physical (but it is not quite physical) in a 'physical', in a material matrix.

You operate in exactly the same way as we do. EXACTLY the same way. You'll say, 'Well, YOU are elevated spirits. You have gone through many adventures. You are on a level above us. You understand how to create.' YOU understand how to create! Each of you understands at core, at heart, how to create, because you are creative spirits, no different from us. We are only different from you in the way that we view the various realities that we travel through.

So, if you think about it, I have brought you a great present this morning – because I have brought you the ability to recreate your world.

When you join together – and you do not need to join together physically, you can join with someone across the world or across the street – when you join together, you create power, you create Light-energy. And that Light-energy can be moulded into whatever vision you are capable of imagining. And the more of you that gather together, the stronger is your capability to create and to manifest what you have created.

So, the perfect vision that I have brought to you today of where I live, where I experience, is not beyond you; it is within you. And it needn't be an alpine situation ...it can be a vision of the Earth unpolluted ...it can be a vision of the Earth not controlled or manipulated ...it can be a vision of the Earth that is harmonious, that is peaceful ...it can be a vision of the Earth where the waters are pure again, where the Earth has repaired itself, the great gouges that you put into the Earth have repaired themselves ...it can be a vision of the Earth where you can be in harmony with the Earth and you seek to make the Earth more than it is spiritually, not to degrade it, not to disregard it, not to destroy it. You can have a vision where every soul on Earth recognises once again their spiritual core and reacts from that spiritual core.

Because, when spirits react and act from their spiritual core, there is no war, there is no aggression, there is no deceit, there is no anger. There is a caring for all, there is a recognition of yourself in the other, there is a recognition of God in the other, there is a recognition of God in the Earth.

And you finally begin to live life on Earth as you did millennia ago before the Fall, before the experiment that went wrong, before you put yourself in a mindset – a head-mind set – that dictated to you, wrongly, that you needed power, that you had lack, that there was only enough for you and not for everyone else.

I have given you a present this morning, if you will unwrap it daily, that will change the Earth, that will change the way that you are living, that will reinvest spiritual Light into every aspect of your life, every aspect of your experience here; and return this Earth to the playground, to the sphere of potential that it was meant to be, and still is within the confines of your limited, restrictive, fearful thinking at the moment.

So, that is my first gift to you, the first present that I wish you to open.

The Second Gift

Joseph: If you open this second present, you will see within it – there will be standing in front of you as the wrapping falls away from the present – an image of yourself, identical to yourself ...except in the amount of Light that that image gives off ...except in the health that that image sends out - that is apparent in that image ...except that that image seems unbowed by the weight of the situations around you, unbowed by the fear that the situations around you generate.

And what IS this image of you?

This image of you is yourself. This image of you is what you are. This image of you is what you SHOULD be. This image of you is stronger – if you will invest in it, if you will accept it, if you will return to it – stronger than the misconceptions and illusions that you find around yourself at the moment. This image of you is the spirit you. The angelic you. And you and the image are ONE. It is just that you do not accept that; you do not believe that. You believe yourself to be decaying flesh, decaying mind... and you are neither of those things.

So, the second present I bring to you is an ability to reflect on the fact that you are perfect, that you cannot be ill, you cannot be confined, you cannot be limited. You are an angel!

You have the creative power of an angel right now, wherever you are ...on a bus, standing in a shop, walking down a street, sitting at home... and believing that the things around you are so important and are so vital, and believing that what you are told is the truth. You are that perfect image within yourself. And you can bring that perfect image out by believing it; by choosing not to believe in the negativity that is around you; by choosing not to invest in the problems and challenges of your world that have been generated by head-mind thinking.

You can use this present daily and say, 'Today I do not believe in any of these things. I believe in myself - not the ego self but the angelic self'. And the more you believe in that perfect image of yourself, the more the perfect truth of that image will permeate your physical image and your mental image and transform you into the perfect angel that you are.

And, as you are doing this, you can also increase your power to change the world. Because as you reconnect with yourself and realise that you can feel better, you can think more clearly, you can make your own decisions, that you are a free spirit... all those aspects of the 'true you' can be invested in *your imagination - your creative imagination

- to transform the world.*

As you begin to see yourself as perfect, you realise that the world is also an angelic entity, that the world is also at your command, as it were (not a brutal command but a loving command) and that the world responds to your heart's touch, to the promptings of your heart, to the creative ability of your heart.

The Third Gift

Joseph: The third present I bring today is... if you unwrap it... you'll think there is nothing there [laughing]. And that's exactly what I want to bring to you – the fact that there is nothing there in your present circumstances.

Because the third present is:

THE GIFT OF SPIRITUAL FREEDOM.

You were given a viewpoint, which is entirely your own, as a gift by your Creator, by God. You were given that viewpoint as a perfect viewpoint that brings back information to God. It is yours. No one can take that away from you. You were created free ...as a free spirit... to decide whether you constructed things well or constructed things not so well. It is entirely up to you as to how you approach your experience of life - how you approach the people around you and the situations around you. It is not up to anyone else.

The third gift is the most important because it is YOUR freedom – freedom to decide. Freedom to go within in quiet times and seek answers and find them. Freedom to reconnect to God. Freedom to have the strength to say: 'No! This situation is not for me. It is not the truth - and I bring out for myself, and for those who wish to listen, the strength and the truth and the Light from within.'

So, I bring you the gift of NOTHING. Nothing... in that the situations that are around you, that seem to hem you in, that seem to take away your freedoms, are not really there, except in that you accept them.

Your world – and it is OUR world because we created it with you – is at a crossroad; a very precise crossroad. And it is not the world that will move down one arm or other of the crossroad. It is you who will decide, on behalf of the world, which route the world takes.

Will it take the material route? Will it take the route of fear? Will it take the route of control? Will it take the route of subservience? If it does, then, as my brother said recently in this very chair [a reference to a previous soul-group communication] the current cycle will end, because there is no more power in it. If you decide that you are simply to be told what to do, and do not decide for yourself regarding any aspect of your life, and you give that power over to a materialistic mindset, your spirit - the YOU that I have given you as a present - will sink deeper and deeper within you until there comes a point where you cannot access it ...you cannot access yourself! What a terrible state of affairs not to be able to access what you truly are.

So, you have to look at this crossroad and you have to decide, each of you, because you are absolutely free: WHAT DO YOU WANT FROM LIFE? What do you want from your relationships with each other? What do you want from those who purport to be in charge? What do you want for the Earth? What is important to you? Is it the material objects around you or the people around you? What is important to you? Is it what you can take from the Earth or what you can give to the Earth? What is important to you? Is it what you can take from people or what you can enhance their lives with; what you can give to them; what you can share with them; what you can enjoy with them?

You have to realise your power at this time, because that power is ebbing – which is why I brought it through again for you to consider today. That power is ebbing, as the tendrils of materialism and the tendrils of control intermesh and become stronger around you.

But don't despair. You can dispense with them easily and quickly by accessing your spiritual heart, by stating your spiritual freedom, by deciding that the way the world is offering to you is not YOUR way. And in deciding that it is not your way, you will seek out and connect with – subconsciously, spiritually – others for whom it is not the way.

And then you begin to build. And join together. You recreate the way that you live. You recreate the world.

Having said that we in the soul group are free from aches and pains, and have limitless energy, we feel (as I have said in the books) the pull of the Earth. We feel the severity of the current situation on Earth. And we feel more than ever the need to impress on you that there is a different way; that you are not what you see; that you can reconnect with who you are; that you can reconnect with the Divine within you; that you can change things, rebuild things. And I am not talking about digging into the Earth; I am not talking about bricks and mortar.

You BUILD through your creative powers. You build by visualising and infusing those visualisations with Light.

Because you are each free spirits, we cannot decide for you. We cannot rebuild the world for you. We can send Light into the world. But our Light is only effective to a certain degree because of the heavy matter and heavy thought processes you have put in place. You have to affect things from within, from within the 'sphere of dysfunction', if you like - which is why we wish to give you back knowledge of your identity, knowledge of your creative ability.

Are we worried? Absolutely! Are we distressed? Absolutely! Are we hopeful of change? That is entirely up to you. ENTIRELY UP TO YOU.

We could have moved on as a soul group long ago, LONG AGO into more refined spheres that I would have difficulty describing to you... more refined spheres that are more like the angelic realm in their nature than the current beautiful situation we find ourselves in. But we cannot move on until YOU see, until YOU begin to accept and investigate and expand your spiritual consciousness again. We cannot move on. It is too painful for us to move on, and we WANT to move on. You will find that, when you reach our level, there is a pull onwards... 'upwards', as it were, into finer vibrations. You WANT those finer vibrations. You WANT a greater and clearer reconnection with God. You WANT a greater and clearer reconnection with the angelic host you are a part of.

But... and there is a phrase that you use mistakenly at the moment: we are all in this together. And I am not talking about the illusion that you have surrounded yourselves with and accepted. We are all in this together because we all got into this together. As angels we made a decision that was the wrong decision, and as a result of this you are repeating on Earth the pattern of destruction: the rise of civilisation ...the destruction of civilisation ...the subsequent rise of civilisation. You repeat and repeat and REPEAT and go through so much pain that is not given to you, not visited upon you by some vengeful God. It is created by YOU... until such time as you approach your world, society, each other, yourself from the spiritual perspective.

I stand, as I talk to you, with people, with spirits - brothers and sisters that Michael and the Band of Light recognise. I stand with spirits you have given names to - 'the Big Indian'; 'the Persian Gentleman'; 'Silver Star'. And looking at us now, you would think that we are standing contemplating someone's life at a funeral. You would see the sombre expression on our faces and you would sense the sadness with us. And in a way it IS a funeral because, unless you change, you will continue to bury yourself - bury yourself in the enveloping 'treacle' of your negative thoughts and desire for a power that you seek in money, in things, in position ...and find it in none of those things because the power that you are seeking lies not in any material aspect of life, but in your heart.

And the power that you are seeking harms no one. The power that you are seeking cares for everyone. The power that you are seeking is the Light that is already yours by birthright, from the time that you were sent out from the Divine to experience and to play in various spheres of reality. It is yours already. You are seeking that which you already have. You don't need to take it from anyone else. And however much of it you give away, it will replenish itself and replenish itself and replenish itself.

There are so few points at which we can get through currently ...so few channels that are able to pick up what we are saying. And that is not the fault of the channels. It is the fault of the overarching vibration of the world. So, we stand as though we are at a funeral. Hoping. Praying. Putting as much Light into the concept of this message going out to as many souls as possible. And not only that, but as many souls as possible thinking: 'Ah! There is something in what Joseph said. He is not simply an elderly uncle who has come to visit his relatives. He is very wise and his wisdom has come through living through what we are living through at this time.'

He has gone through it -TWICE - and so he knows what he is talking about!

I urge you to consider the presents. They are freely given. You can put them to one side; you can walk past them; or you can unwrap them ...you can find them of value and you can start to live from their viewpoint.

As my brother (you call him 'the Persian Gentleman') said, 'Love each other.' Is that so difficult?

Love each other.

LOVE EACH OTHER.

Love what you are.

Love being creative.

Realise that you create every day of your life but you have bought into creating negatively. Restrictively. Fearfully.

Turn things around.

We will work with you.

TURN THINGS AROUND!

...Whilst you still have time to do so.
